The Mailchimp course I attended yesterday was very useful. The trainer was friendly and engaging, and the course material was put together in a simple to follow way. The small class size meant I felt comfortable asking questions throughout, and the trainer had good insight into applying the features to my industry.

Integrating Platforms

The course was great – pitched perfectly for our level of experience/knowledge. We both came away confident that we could put into practice what we had learned. Our trainer was obviously very knowledgeable and presented the content in a very accessible way. Plenty of practical advice which was tailored to our situation. I would recommend the course to any company looking to begin or improve their email marketing.
